STOCK DIVIDEND OF FIFTY PER CENT.

Payment To Be Made to Stock holders First Monday in December

At their meeting yesterday afternoon at the office of H. Hackfeld & Co., Ltd., the stockholders of Koloa Sugar Company, Ltd., declared a stock dividend of 50 per cent, which increases the capital stock from $500,000 to $750,000. This dividend comes from the profit and loss account and illustrates what a gold mine is Koloa plantation.

The dividend will be payable on December 2, when each shareholder of the present stock will receive one share for every two shares held. Koloa stock has rarely of late appeared in stock exchange transactions. It has been too well known as something to be held on to with a tight grip. Last sale quotation stands at $20 1/2 shares, the par value being $10 a share.

This was considered a good time to distribute the profits to the treasury, Mr. Kram said in giving the information to the Star-Bulletin.

'PRIVATE' IS UNFAIR, SAYS COMMISSION

Harbor Board Declares Has No
Intention of Secret Pact
with Oil Company

No "private agreement" with the Associated Oil Company has been discussed, will be discussed or has ever been contemplated by the board of harbor commissioners, according to statements of commissioners made today.

A report published this morning that the commissioners had gone into executive session late yesterday afternoon to discuss a "private agreement" with the Associated Oil Company stirred not only the public in general, but the commissioners themselves. Citizens wished to know if the board was entering into a private agreement with a public service corporation, while the commissioners were wroth because their action, they declared, had been badly misinterpreted.

James Wakefield, who made the motion for the executive session, was asked by the Star-Bulletin this morning for the facts in the case and responded by saying that the commission never had any intention of entering into an agreement with the oil company without giving full publicity to the terms and plans.

"The purpose of the executive session was to discuss in form of agreement among ourselves so that we could talk it over fully and freely. The particular reason for wishing to go into executive session was that the outline of the agreement which we wished to discuss had not yet been submitted to the attorney-general and we did not wish to go on record or to take any final action without consultation with him. Usually we have had an opportunity to submit the various agreements to the attorney-general in advance of our board meetings, but we were unable to do so in this case, and to give him every freedom to make suggestions for changes, we did not wish to commit ourselves beforehand."

"I made the motion to go into executive session and neither in this motion nor in the discussion was there any use of the word 'private' in reference to the agreement."

NEW NATIONAL GUARD ARMORY AS IT WILL LOOK WHEN COMPLETED

The above photograph is from a preliminary sketch of the new armory building exterior, made by Ripley & Davis, architects in charge.

Dirt Will Begin to Fly for Foundation Early in December

The new National Guard Armory, for which the citizens soldiers and their friends have been fighting for several years, is at last to become a reality, and early next month dirt will fly on the old Barracks lot, Miller and Hotel streets, in preparation for the construction of this grand and imposing edifice in the Territory of Hawaii.

The building as planned now is to cost in the vicinity of $125,000, and $100,000 of this amount already is appropriated, having been set aside by the legislature in 1911. The remaining amount probably will be added by the legislature which convenes next month. The armory will be the largest public structure in the islands, and the largest building of any kind with the exception of the Alexander Young Hotel. Like most big modern edifices of its kind the architectural lines will be of the severest simplicity. Containing two stories and a full basement, with dimensions of 200x235 feet and reinforced concrete building material for the outer shell the building will be one of which the citizens of the islands may well be proud. In its interior design it will contain every modern feature of the best armories in the country, and in size it will be sufficient to accommodate all conventions or other public gatherings that may be held in the Territory for many years to come.

Its front, looking on Hotel street and across to the Capitol is to be 200 feet in width. The only architectural feature breaking the plain straight lines of the exterior is the small inset at the main entrance, where a twenty-foot wide passage leads up a slightly inclined floor to the level of the big drill shed, past the front offices and the stairway leading to the second or top floor.

This drill shed will be set directly in the center of the building, surrounded by the many offices of officers, the assembly rooms of the various companies and the pool and billiard room that is to be provided for the men. The hall will be 100x170 feet in size. It is two stories in height, extending to the roof. Above it, around the sides of the second floor, will extend a gallery ten feet in width, which may be occupied by spectators during conventions or other large meetings. The seating capacity of the drill and gallery combined will be between 4000 and 5000.

The second-story gallery will be an area way leading to the locker rooms, the social hall to be used for company entertainments, the library, for the guardsmen and the large hall set aside for the use of the local post of the G. A. R. and the Spanish War Veterans. These apartments line the sides of the building on the ground floor, all having plenty of windows for fresh air and sunlight.

The basement, which is to be entirely below the street line and the full size of the main building, will have concrete floors, and is to be divided into storage rooms, gymnasium locker rooms, the gymnasium which will be two stories in height, shower rooms, lavatories, etc.

Over all will rest a steel truss of tongue and groove, covered with felt and gravel.

Governor Brewster and Superintendent H. K. Bishop, of the Department of Public Works, already have approved the architectural plans and have completed, and ordered them finished as soon as possible. This preliminary work probably will be in readiness for contractors desiring to bid on the job, and bids likely will be called for and opened during the first two weeks in December.

It is hoped to have the structure finished and ready for occupation late next summer or fall.

MAY TEST AVIATION THEORIES ON THE PLAINS OF LEILEHUA

Department Planning to Send Fleet of Aeroplanes to Local Post

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence]
"Almighty Father, Who can still
The raging of the storm at will,
Thou who canst save on land or sea,
And if Thou wilt no harm can be,
Oh God, extend Thy saving care
To those in peril in the air!"

SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, Nov. 14.—The above hymn, which was sung at a recent funeral service at Lytle, England, for victims of the army aviation disaster near Hitchin, has a peculiar interest for more than one during young officer at Schofield, for the word has gone forth that within a short time a small fleet of army aeroplanes will be brought to Oahu. The War Department seems to be turning to Hawaii as the proving ground for many of the theories, and Schofield barracks now the largest post in the army, with its acres of gently rolling country and climatic advantages, has been marked for aviation experiments.

This news comes in a private letter written by an officer now in the States, to a friend here. The information is considered reliable, for the writer should know whereof he speaks and it is expected that within three months at least three, and possible more flying machines will be assembled at Leilehua, with several experienced army airmen in charge of their operation, and of the instruction of a number of officers now here who have expressed a desire to volunteer for aviation work.

The sending of several aeroplanes to Oahu is not a complete surprise, in fact, army men here have been wondering for some time past what has caused the delay, for the tip went out several months ago that aeroplanes entered into the calculations of the defense board, which convened here last July, and which went into elaborate plans for defending Oahu from invasion.

Two monoplanes of the type recently favored by military authorities, and one Curtiss bi-plane, are to be the basis of Hawaii's aerial navy, which is to be added to as fast as there are competent flyers available.

Not only will the flying experiments here develop the use of the aeroplane for scouting, but also according to rumor, as an agent of actual combat. To date there has been little done with military aviation other than scouting and the dropping of bombs, but unquestionably the flying machine has grimmer war possibilities. It can also be used as an engine of destruction, not by means of bomb-dropping attacks of a few aeroplanes, but by the organized onslaught of large squadrons of weight-lifting machines, which will be able to rain down tons of missiles over any given spot. On a sea-board terrain such as this is, aeroplanes could be used to great advantage to prevent the landing of an invading force.

Aeroplanes on Oahu would have one great advantage over the air fleets of Europe and continental United States because the local flyers would not be opposed by a hostile air squadron of equal strength. The opinion prevails now in foreign military circles that the next great war will see aeroplanes mounted with light guns firing explosive shells at each other, and that battles will be fought above the ground. A force invading Oahu could hardly bring more than a few light machines for scouting purposes, which gives color to theory that the United States intends to build up a strong protective aeroplane fleet here.

GILMORE SAID OUT OF FAVOR

Reports of Resignation Have Been Going Rounds for Some Time, It Appears

News by wireless from California, published this morning, that President John W. Gilmore of the College of Hawaii has been appointed to the chair of agronomy at the University of California, did not come with as much surprise to a number of educators here as to those who have not been following school matters closely.

Although no statement could be secured up to this afternoon from the regents of the College, it has been rumored for several weeks that President Gilmore, who has been on the mainland, would not return unless it were to pack his personal effects. Coincidentally there was the rumor that he would resign from the college faculty and accept a mainland position.

WISHES FREAR'S AALA PARK LAND

Rumor Says Syndicate Is After
It for Big Theater
Site

Governor Frear has received an offer of $27,500 for his property at Aala Park. He is said to be holding out for $30,000. It is rumored that a mainland syndicate wants the land for a site for a large modern theater. Mr. Frear, it is said, paid only $2000 for the land with a building thereon some years ago.

This pending deal illustrates the revolution that is occurring in real estate values in the Honolulu business section. The Federal site condemnation cases have furnished other illustrations, and the dicker for the Execlior Lodge's property and the rumored negotiations for the Catholic Mission property are also in point.

While at first thought some may deem the Aala Park locality unsuitable for a high-class theater, there are several considerations making it appear quite desirable for that purpose. It is central both to the railway and rapid transit travel. Besides being on the edge of one of the most densely inhabited parts of the town, it is at the gate of both Nuanu and Kalihi valleys with their highly respectable populations.

In discussing the possibility of Prof. Gilmore's resignation from the faculty of the College of Hawaii, Judge H. E. Cooper today gave no intimation that the professor had incurred the displeasure of the board of regents. He merely stated that he had received a letter from Gilmore, who is now on the coast, bringing word of the offer made by the University of California.

"He wrote that he is favorably considering the offer," said Judge Cooper, "but will suspend action on it until he has returned here and discussed it with the board of regents. He expects to return in about six weeks, and will not resign from his position here until after a conference with the local college board."

CORONER'S JURY FAVOR REVOKING CHINESE HERB DOCTOR'S LICENSE

Has Been Practitioner in Islands for Twenty-five Years

Chew Fong, a local Chinese herb doctor, may get himself in serious trouble as a result of the finding of a coroner's jury impeached by Coroner Charles Rose, which body of men has completed an investigation of the case of death of a Chinese patient. The jury in rendering a verdict of death through natural causes strongly recommends that the license to practice medicine in this Territory by Chew Fong be revoked at the earliest opportunity, and the attention of the local board of medical examiners has been called to this particular case.

Lau Lum Mok, a Chinese vegetable gardener who died at the Queen's hospital on Monday night as a result of blood poisoning was the subject for an important inquest conducted yesterday afternoon by Coroner Charles Rose.

A verdict arrived at by the jury after much deliberation was to the effect that the Chinese came to his death through natural causes, to wit, blood poisoning. The jury, however, added that it recommended that the license now held by Chew Fong to practice medicine in this Territory be revoked, the same having been passed up to the Territorial board of health and the members of the board of medical examiners.

The Chinese patient who passed away at the hospital as a result from a kick from a horse, suffered a badly fractured leg. The accident was first reported to the police on October 29. Officers were summoned to the home of the Chinese and efforts were made towards his removal to a hospital. It is alleged that the Chinese patient refused to enter such an institution, preferring to remain at his home.

Chew Fong, a local herb doctor who has been practicing in the islands for the past twenty-five years was called to attend the patient. Testimony adduced at the inquest was to the effect that instead of administering medicines or taking any steps whatsoever

FEAR BULGARIA WILL REFUSE PEACE TREATY

[Associated Press Cable]

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Bulgarian reports reaching here from Sofia, Burg, Belgrade and Vienna, it is feared that the proposed armistice between the Balkan allies and the Turks will fail to the great detriment of the attitude adopted by Bulgarian authorities. It is understood that King Ferdinand has indicated that new that the victory over the enemy foe of his country is almost in his hands, he will refuse to be satisfied with anything short of absolute surrender.

According to officials of the war office, it is believed that even if armistice is agreed to it will affect only those areas outside of the zone of struggle around Adrianople and Constantinople. The fight around these cities, it is believed, will continue to the bitter end.

NONCOMBATANTS SLAIN

[Associated Press Cable]

BERLIN, Germany, Nov. 14.—Reports from the great army headquarters at the front with the Allies state in the effect that the Serbian army have been guilty of outrages have been current for some days, and today these reached their climax when the dispatches contained accounts of the massacre of Albanian non-combatants, by the victorious Serbian soldiery. The details of the massacre are lacking as yet, but the victims of the troops are said to number in the neighborhood of several hundred.
